Important information

Payments by US dollar cheque

Due to a change in banking arrangements from October 2017, we will unfortunately no longer be able to make payments of redemption proceeds and income distributions by US dollar cheque. Such payments will in future only be payable by direct credit to shareholder bank accounts. All investors currently receiving US dollar cheques have been notified and requested to supply their relevant bank details.

Anti-Money Laundering ('AML') Regulations

The Luxembourg AML Regulations require that we hold a current valid identification document (i.e. passport) for all clients on the share register to meet our Know Your Client obligations. This means that when the ID document we hold for you has expired, we will have to request a certified true copy of your new identification document. We appreciate the co-operation we receive from our clients. By supplying us promptly with the additional documentation we request from time to time, you will enable us to meet the statutory requirements, and allow us to administer your account efficiently.

Important notice for clients with Investec holdings in a joint or common account in the event of a death of a shareholder

In the event of a death of a shareholder within a joint or common account we detail the process below if you wish to re-register that shareholding. The process will be different according to whether you have a joint account or a common account.

Joint accounts

Joint accounts are accounts opened by two or more people, where authority has been requested and granted for any of the joint holders to be able to sign on behalf of all shareholders on the account ('Joint Signatory Indemnity'). On these accounts the shareholding(s) may be re-registered into a new account in the name(s) of the surviving holder(s), assuming that the account is in good order. To do this we would require an instruction from all of the surviving account holder(s), a certified copy of the death certificate and a new registration form completed by the surviving holder(s).

Common accounts

Common accounts are accounts opened by two or more people, where authority has not been requested or granted for any of the joint holders to be able to sign on behalf of all shareholder(s). On this basis all shareholders in a common account need to sign for any action involving the account.

On these accounts, as no Joint Signatory Indemnity is in place, we would require certified copies of the death certificate, Will and Grant of Probate. In addition to re-register the shareholding in the name of the new shareholder(s), we will also need a new registration form detailing the entitled beneficiary and an instruction from the shareholder(s), including the representative of the estate.

If you are unsure on whether your account is currently set up as joint account or common account, please feel free to contact us. For further questions about the rights of a surviving shareholder(s), please refer to an independent legal advisor.
